Narcissus Wall Mirror

Nature has always been a source of inspiration for designers, so why not turn the tables? Why not apply a designer's vocabulary to the natural form? With her new line of lights and mirrors, artist Laura Spector merges precious and organic materials to create magic and illusion.

The Narcissus Wall mirror is made from molds taken from gnarled and twisted oriental bittersweet vines, then cast in aluminum and re-imagined by the artist so that each open work, forged metal piece is truly unique. Signed and dated, these limited edition mirrors may look delicate, but there's nothing fragile about it. The Narcissus Wall mirror applies the strength and lightness of cast aluminum to the grace and beauty of the natural form.

The 34" round mirror is available in a variety of finishes including natural (above,) copper patina, gold patina, bronze, silver and enameled white. (Available June 2006)
